

Newsman Gets Close-up of Guerrilla War as Prisoner of War

ALGIERS, June 21.—(AP)—Stoyan Pribichevich, was correspondent for Time and Life magazines, told today the exciting story of 14 hours in the hands of German parachutists, constantly facing death from both the Nazis and Yugoslav Partisans.

Pribichevich was captured May 25 during the surprise attack on the town of Drvar, southwest Bosnia, in a futile attempt to capture Marshal Tito. He told his story today in a dispatch for the combined Allied press.

Pribichevich says he, Chief Petty Officer G. E. Fowler of the U. S. Navy, formerly of Los Angeles; Sergeant Max Slade of the British Army Film Photographic Unit, and John Talbot, Reuters correspondent, were captured by the parachutists early in the day and marched to the two-room house where they lived. A German officer, Pribichevich said, "searched us for guns, took away our papers and hit Talbot for not raising his injured arm high enough."

"Then he pulled two photographs out of his speckled parachute dress and asked: 'Do you know who this is?'"

"That is Tito."

"Where is Tito?" he barked.

"I pointed to the limestone crag beyond the town—Tito was there last night, but he is not there this morning."

"You know you are lying," the officer roared.

"Go there and find out whether I am lying," I replied. In fact Tito was in his grotto when the German parachutists descended. His men pulled him up a rope to the summit of the steep cliff while the shooting was going on in the valley.

"He then walked over to a nearby hill and from there directed the battle that day and night."

Pribichevich and his colleagues were herded into the background of the Partisan administration building with 20 old men, women and children. One of the two German officers in a corner of the yard asked the whereabouts of Tito and Pribichevich gave the same answer as before.

FALL OF CHERBOURG TO YANKS IMMINENT

Meandering Along the Main Stem

I guess everyone has heard of the saying "Dog bites man" and of the editor always seeking a situation so he could write the headline. "Man bites dog!"

Well, dear editor, here is one case of "cat feeds rabbit" which, due to the oddity, should be further explained before talking too much about it.

It seems John Boylan, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boylan, 604 West Market Street, has, as any number of young boys, a number of pets of which he is quite fond.

During the extreme heat of the week end just passed, John's mother rabbit died a sad and untimely death. This thrust a tiny, baby rabbit out on the cold, cruel world without knowledge of how to feed itself and worse still, the means!

John saved the rabbit from a fate as dire as his mother's when he put the orphan in with a docile mother cat who was busily engaged in feeding her two young offspring.

Today he is happy to report both mother cat and baby rabbit are "doing fine."

Scanning two or three pages of suggestions issued by the Ohio State Safety Council, on how to avoid accidents and keep healthy, I found this bit of information that should be timely and helpful to swimmers:

"Here's a way to avoid the hot drive home from the beach or swimming place:

"Get into your swimming suit, eat a lot of picnic food; wash it down with a quart or so of lemonade or iced tea, and then jump into the cold water and show your friends what a Johnny Weismuller you are."

"You can count on getting a cramp, and even if you're rescued, you'll be in such bad shape that someone else will have to do the driving on the way home."

"The Ohio State Safety Council and the National Safety Council remind us that July and August account for close to one-third of the six thousand eight hundred drownings that take place in the nation each year."

"The Councils suggest that you wait at least an hour after eating before you go swimming, and that you do your swimming only at supervised beaches or in the company of an experienced swimmer."

INCREASE IN WHISKY IN PROSPECT IN OHIO

Revision of Rationing Plan Likely Before Fall

COLUMBUS, June 21.—(AP)—Liquor Director Don A. Fisher said today Ohio might be able to increase its whisky ration next fall as a result of federal permission for distillers to manufacture it during August.

The War Production Board announced in Washington that production of 50 to 60 million gallons of blended whisky would be permitted during the month, about a fourth of the nation's normal annual output.

"If Ohio can obtain additional shipments as a result of the holiday," Fisher said, "we will increase the ration by cutting down the period or increasing allotments for ration card holders."

"If whisky should become available in sufficient quantity, we'll remove it from the ration list, the same as we did rum and brandy."

PRODUCTION RESUMED

HAMILTON, June 21.—(AP)—Production of vital war material at the Ford Motor Co. plant resumed today with the ending of a walkout among members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

BERLIN BLASTED AS REDS SURGE ACROSS FINLAND

Prisoners Captured in Italy Evidence of Weakening Defense of Germany

By RICHARD McMURRAY (By the Associated Press)

Americans fought house-to-house in the Cherbourg suburbs today less than a mile from the commercial docks, reducing the last century-old forts shielding the French port.

Up to 50,000 hopelessly trapped Germans had an ultimatum to surrender or die and infantry, artillery and bombs made their positions an inferno. Fort Du Roule on a hilltop near the docks and Fort Octeville, slightly farther away, were focal points of the attack.

More than 1,000 U. S. bombers subjected Berlin to what the Nazis called a "heavy terror raid." Another 1,000 fighters convoyed the bombers. The Germans said the bombers flew on to the east, possibly to Russian bases in a new shuttle service between Britain and Russia. The cross-channel duel between German flying bomb sites and Allied air fleets rounded out its first week.

Defeat Faces Finland

Victorious Russian troops who occupied Finland's fortress seaport of Viipuri yesterday, drove on today toward the capital city of Helsinki, where the Germans were reported exerting pressure to keep their small ally from suing for peace with Premier Joseph Stalin.

(Russian troops "have advanced three miles beyond Viipuri," the British radio said today in a broadcast heard in New York by CBS.)

The Finnish radio, which told of the Russian advance, urged all persons whose presence was not essential to evacuate Helsinki, which lies approximately 135 air-line miles west of Viipuri.

The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter said the Germans were endeavoring to block formation of a Finnish "peace cabinet" which Finns asserted would be formed "very soon" as a result of the Russian successes.

A Finnish informant in Stockholm said loss of the key Karelian fortifications "left us helpless because our whole scheme of defense was built on the expectation we would be able to hold there."

The Moscow radio said Finland was on "the brink of defeat."

Advance in Italy

Eighth Army veterans have hurled the last stubborn Nazi defenders out of ancient Perugia, communications hub 85 miles north of Rome, and advanced some four miles north of the city, Allied headquarters said today.

The Allied drive still was in steady motion although the Germans had thrown the elements of seven divisions against the right flank of the Fifth Army's front in an effort to slow its pace. But the Fifth fought through more villages, making what headquarters termed "minor tactical gains."

It was disclosed that the Fifth Army has taken prisoners from the 19th Luftwaffe Division, which left Belgium June 10, four

HOOVER OR LUCE? WHICH WILL BE FIRST SPEAKER

CHICAGO, June 21.—(AP)—The Republican national committee was undecided today who shall speak first next Tuesday night—congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce or former President Hoover.

Both are scheduled to address the party's convention in a radio period beginning at 9 P. M., said Republican National Chairman Harrison E. Spangler.

Extra Pay For Fighting Yanks Voted By House Committee

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(AP)—Extra pay for infantrymen and glider-borne troops was voted today by the House military committee after it heard an off-the-record eulogy of G. I. Joes by one of their leaders on a fighting front.

The committee approved legislation to give "expert infantrymen" engaged in combat duty a pay boost of $10 monthly, those not in combat an additional $5 and members of glider units the same 50 percent pay increase now given paratroopers.

Major Gen. Miller G. White read a letter in support of the bill from a front-line commander commending Uncle Sam's foot-soldiers.

At their own request, the Marines were excluded from provisions of the legislation.

Col. J. W. Knighton, representing the Marine Corps, said in a statement filed with the committee that the bill singles out one arm of the service, the infantry, to the detriment of other arms engaged in equally hazardous jobs. To apply it to the Leathernecks, he added, would "tend to destroy a sense of unity which is a valuable military asset to the corps."

Pay Boost Recommended For Officials of Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—(AP)—The state salary study commission yesterday tentatively recommended pay increases ranging up to nearly 100 per cent for top Ohio officials.

Proposals of the commission, headed by state senator John P. Stephenson, Ease Liverpool Republican, will be submitted to the legislature next year. Stephenson said final recommendations would not be made for several weeks. All offices affected are elective.

Largest increase recommended was a $5,500 pay jump for the attorney general, bringing his salary to $12,000 a year compared with $6,500 at present.

Current salaries and new pay schedules recommended by the commission for other state officials are:

Governor, $10,000 and $15,000; auditor of state, $6,500 and $10,000; secretary of state, $6,500 and $9,000; treasurer of state, $6,500 and $10,000 (with enactment of a provision eliminating fees from conservancy districts); lieutenant governor, $3,000 and $3,600; chief justice, $12,500 and $13,500; supreme court judges, $12,500 and $13,500.

BRICKER ALL SET FOR FINAL DRIVE

COLUMBUS, June 21.—(AP)—Culminating an intensive campaign which carried him into 34 states, Gov. John W. Bricker leaves for Chicago late tonight to launch his final drive for the presidential nomination at the Republican National Convention opening Monday.

Encouraged by reports of substantial gains in the contest for delegates during pre-convention maneuvering, the governor's campaign managers at his, Chicago headquarters evinced optimism over Bricker's chance of winning the nomination.

Three days were required to bury the bodies of dead Japanese after their suicidal attack on American positions on Hill 700 on Bougainville last March, reports Lieut. Col. Ernest E. Root, commander of an infantry battalion of the 145th infantry regiment of Ohio's 37th Division.

SHOWDOWN IS WHAT U. S. WANTS, SAYS ADM. KING

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(AP)—American forces may at long last have cornered Nippon's principal battle fleet for a showdown fight, and so far as Admiral Ernest J. King is concerned, "the sooner the Japanese fleet fights, the better we'll be satisfied."

He made his statement after Navy Secretary Forrestal had reported that despite strict radio silence from the Pacific there have been some indications that American forces "may have succeeded in catching up with all or a part of the Japanese fleet yesterday."

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, June 21.—(AP)—Giant battle fleets of the United States and Japan faced each other today in the 1,500 miles between the Philippines and Marianas amid indications that preliminary blows already may have opened a history-shaking naval engagement.

"Possibly the entire Japanese fleet" has entered the area, Adm. Chester M. Nimitz disclosed. It was the first report on the whereabouts of the long-sought navy of Nippon since its crushing defeat at Midway in June, 1942.

Eager and ready for battle is the Fifth U. S. fleet with "enough muscle... to take care of everything" in the words of the confident commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

Japs Admit Losses

A Japanese naval spokesman was quoted in a Berlin broadcast today as saying Nippon's air and naval forces "have successfully engaged an American fleet" but Tokyo radio in another broadcast to the homeland quoted an Imperial Headquarters communique as acknowledging "we have suffered considerable losses of ships and planes."

On the embattled Saipan in the Marianas 1,500 miles southeast of Tokyo, the Yanks called on planes, artillery and guns of warships to help crack bitter resistance of an estimated 20,000 Japanese, a Nimitz communique last night reported.

BOGUS 'BOMB' ALARMING TO ELYRIA CITIZENRY

ELYRIA, June 21.—(AP)—This city was back to normal today after residents were told the "bomb" which dropped from a plane was a non-explosive wind testing instrument.

The device, identified through its flanges by William Gibbons of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Cleveland, crashed through a garage roof last Saturday. Elyrians became alarmed when "two bomb fins" and "something which looked like a bomb fuse" were unearthed.

The twins were sent to the Mansfield Reformatory in 1940 to serve one to 20-year sentences on charges of assault to rob and were transferred to the penitentiary a year ago. They were ordered released to go to Pennsylvania.

WORLD PEACE PLAN OFFERED BY CHIANG

Brilliant State Banquet Is Given for Wallace

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, June 21.—(AP)—A general system of collective security, backed if necessary by an adequate international force, was urged by President Chiang Kai-Shek tonight at a brilliant state banquet given by him and Mrs. Chiang in honor of Vice President Henry A. Wallace.

Assuring the visiting American that China wishes to live in good neighborliness, harmony and peace with all nations, the Generalissimo said:

"We respect the integrity and independence of every nation. We dream no dreams of domination. We have no territorial ambitions."

80,707 WOMEN IN NAVY, COAST GUARD, MARINES

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(AP)—The personnel strength of the Navy Marine Corps and Coast Guard stood at 3,400,646 men and women on May 1, Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) reported today in a senate document entitled "The decline and renaissance of the navy, 1922-1944."

The total included 8,727 women officers and 71,980 enlisted women.

FIZZLE IS TERM FOR NAZI'S FLYING BOMB

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(AP)—From a strictly military viewpoint the Nazis' greatest secret anti-invasion weapon, the highly-touted flying bomb is a fizzle.

This is the opinion of responsible military leaders here—men who were seriously worried a few days ago over the tricks the Germans might spring in the critical hours of invasion.

AMERICAN BOYS NOW FIGHTING IN CITY'S SUBURBS

Pall of Smoke Hangs Over Big Port Where Demolition Adds To Shell Havoc

By WES GALLAGHER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 21.—(AP)—U. S. Doughboys supported by heavy artillery and air bombardment today assaulted two key inner fortress guarding Cherbourg—one less than a mile from the commercial docks—and fought house-to-house through the city's suburbs.

The fall of Cherbourg to the Yanks appeared today to be a matter of hours.

(An NBC broadcast from Normandy declared "our ground forces are moving into Cherbourg.")

U. S. troops have captured Acqueville and Teurtheville Hague on the western tip of Cherbourg peninsula.

"Good progress has been made toward Cherbourg today," supreme headquarters said.

Other American forces advanced northwest of Valognes, where U. S. forces were astride the road leading to Cherbourg.

Heavy fighting was reported in the Tilly-sur-Seulles area near the center of the Normandy front.

Eighty German tanks have been destroyed by the Allies so far.

The air forces yesterday flew 6,000 sorties in "one of the most successful days of the campaign."

The power drive from the south hammered against Fort Du Roule, on a hill at Cherbourg's outskirts and within a mile of the docks, and Fort Octeville, a little more than a mile to the west.

Cherbourg's great military port area, now exploding under German demolitions, lies only two miles behind Fort Octeville.

Nazi Backs To Wall

The Germans were making a last ditch stand in these inner ring fortresses.

Heavy fighting was reported in the built-up suburban section of France's third greatest port.

The assault upon the forts raced forward from St. Martin Le-Greard, four miles south of Cherbourg, and advance units on the western flank drove to Acqueville, three to four miles west and

WORLD POLICE FORCE TO GET GOP BACKING

Foreign Policy Plank for Platform About Ready

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO, June 21.—(AP)—Republican leaders moved rapidly today toward a pre-convention accord on a foreign policy platform plan pledging international cooperation, backed by military force, to preserve the world's future peace.

Senator Austin (R., Vt.) brought to Chicago a one-page type-written declaration of foreign policy which, he told a reporter, was patterned closely after the Mackinac Postwar Advisory Council statement.

The plank was understood to go beyond the Mackinac pledge for "responsible participation by the United States in post-war cooperative organization among sovereign nations to prevent military aggression," with a reference to the use of military force to back up this organization.

The proposed plank was described as projecting the establishment of an international tribunal to settle judicially the disputes among the nations.

TWO APPLICANTS FOR PRINCIPAL MET BY BOARD

Successor To W. F. Rettig May Be Named at Meeting Friday

Two applicants for the principalship of the Washington C. H. High School were interviewed at the city board of education meeting Tuesday night, but no action was taken.

A. B. Murray, the superintendent of schools, said that "more than 20 applications" had been received for the post which W. F. Rettig resigned about a month ago to accept the secretaryship of The First Federal Savings and Loan Co. and he added that all were being given careful consideration.

Stephen Brown, principal of the Hillsboro High School, and Dana Whitmer, principal of the Newcomerstown High School, met with the board at its regular meeting Tuesday night. No comment was made concerning the board's reaction. Murray did say Wednesday before he left for a Presbyterian Church meeting in Wooster that a decision would be reached soon, possibly at a special meeting Friday.

Another vacancy in the city teaching corps today faced the board after the resignation of Mrs. Barbara Allen Armbrust, a teacher at Sunnyside, was accepted. Mrs. Armbrust, it was explained, had been with her husband who is in the service and had decided not to continue teaching for the present. The position, it was said, would be filled at a later meeting.

One of the janitorships at the high school building is still to be filled. Supt. Murray said, explaining that no successor had been named for Alfred Browne, who tendered his resignation because of his health.

days after the invasion of France began.

This was the second German division to be diverted from the western front since the Allies' spectacular advance in Italy began, the 20th Luftwaffe Division having arrived here previously from Denmark. Prisoners also have been taken in the same general area from the 16th SS Division which was brought here from the Balkans.

Yanks Blast Berlin
More than 1,000 American Flying Fortresses and Liberators blasted Berlin today and the capital's outskirts today and the German radio indicated that at least some of the planes flew on eastward—possibly in the first shuttle raid from Britain to new American bases in Russia.

The bomber fleet had an escort of about 1,000 fighters, making a total force of some 2,000 planes which carried the aerial war once more to the heart of the German homeland.

Basdorf, on Berlin's outskirts, also was blasted.
German broadcasts admitted damage and casualties and threatened to retaliate with "bigger and more powerful" explosives than those used in the current rocket bomb offensive.

First Liberators fliers back at British bases said there was plenty of flak over the targets but they did not see a single German fighter—a rare occurrence in raids on the hub of Germany.

Berlin broadcasts said the Hanover and Brunswick areas also had been attacked by daylight raiders, but there was no immediate Allied confirmation of these reports.

The Germans asserted Berlin had been the target of a "heavy terror raid," and said Germany would retaliate in due time "with bigger and more powerful explosives than the present new weapon, which already has caused havoc beyond description."

At the same time big fleets of Allied planes were observed streaking out across Dover Strait and disappearing in the direction of the German rocket bomb bases which now have been pounded continuously for five days.

During the night the tempo of the Allied aerial offensive was maintained as RAF Mosquitos thundered out in relays for four hours to harass German lines of reinforcements by blasting the Meisdon railroad yards near Caen in the Normandy battle area. Rail yards at Chartres also were hit.

HE WANTED MONEY; BUT LEAVES QUICKLY

Appearance of Gun Proves Too Much for Man

Police Wednesday were investigating an incident that happened recently at the home of George Perry on Oakland Avenue.

It seems that Perry had stepped upon his veranda to obtain the evening newspaper.

A man standing nearby accosted him by saying he wanted money mightily bad.

"I've only got a little with me," replied Perry.

"I've got to have some money," the stranger said emphatically.

"Wait a minute," said Perry and stepping into the house he picked up a rifle.

When the intruder saw the gun he turned and ran as fast as he could to get out of range. The gun was not loaded.

A good description of the man was obtained by the police.

MURRAY ATTENDING PRESBYTERIAN MEET

Superintendent and Mrs. A. B. Murray today are in Wooster. Murray is attending the Wooster conference as commissioner to the synod representing the Presbyterian Church. He will participate in the Wednesday and Thursday sessions.

All sessions of the convocation are on the campus of the College of Wooster. A coordinated program, the convocation includes synodical, synod and school of missions sessions for its four day schedule. The meeting began Monday.

Rev. Arnold H. Lowe of Minneapolis, Minn., is the Convocation preacher. He was scheduled to speak at 8 P.M. Wednesday in the chapel.

ELIGIBLE LIST FOR FIREMEN AND POLICE

As result of an examination held Monday night, by the Civil Service Commission of this city, three men are on the eligible list for policemen and two for firemen.

All of the men are now holding jobs in the departments. They are: police—Robert Palmer, Walter Marshall and Lewis Merritt; firemen—Robert Creamer and Fred Pope.

One application for policeman failed to pass the examination.

WOMAN ARRESTED HERE MUST LEAVE THE CITY

Mrs. Artie Dawson, known in this city, but whose husband resides in Indiana, according to police, was taken into custody while with three soldiers in a truck here Tuesday night.

The woman was being held for disposition under the vagrancy law, Wednesday, with indications that the workhouse is the alternative to leaving the city and staying away.

LION OFFICERS TO BE INSTALLED FOURTH OF JULY

Martin J. Hogan Speaks at Tuesday Night Meet Of Club Here

Officers will be installed when the Lions Club meets July 4 at the Country Club. W. L. O'Brien will take over the presidency, succeeding Harold McCord.

Other men to take office are Loren Hynes, first vice-president; A. E. Weatherly, second vice-president; Ray Seblom, third vice-president; Paul Van Voorhis, secretary; Walter Rettig, treasurer; Robert Terhune, lion twister and Don Brandenburg, lion tamer.

At the club's Tuesday night meeting at the Country Club, Martin J. Hogan, assistant postmaster at Cincinnati, spoke on War Bonds, Harry Nagle, vice-president of the Fifth Third Union Trust Company in Cincinnati, was a guest. He accompanied Hogan from Cincinnati.

R. B. Tharp reported on a trip he, McCord, John Sagar and Paul Van Voorhis made to attend a joint meeting of the Middletown, Franklin and Hamilton Clubs. The meeting was held in the dining room of the Aerona Aircraft Company at Middletown. After the session, the men were taken on a tour of the plant. Later, they inspected the Teen Age Club in Franklin, sponsored by the Lions Club there.

John Sagar and J. Roush Burton were appointed to serve as an auditing committee to look over the books kept by Van Voorhis.

for tighter controls on liquor distribution. Such a step is necessary, says the committee, to combat bootleggers and "black marketeers." The new WPB order will release alcohol to make from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 gallons of 86-90 proof blended whiskey in August—about a fourth of a normal year's supply.

Capital Miscellany
Rep. Engel (R-Mich)—Congress' one-man investigating committee — has toured explosives plants and says the power industry is one of the few costing taxpayers less per unit than in World War I . . . Efforts of southern legislators to knock out an appropriation for the president's fair employment practices committee have been unsuccessful and the FEPC today has assurances of funds for continuance . . . Despite the heavy bills of the recent months and a few still pending before Congress, this session will appropriate less money than any other since Pearl Harbor; but Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) predicts that during the next fiscal year, spending from outstanding appropriations probably will continue at the same pace as in previous years. . . . Among the bills ready for swift congressional enactment is legislation to end upwards of $200,000,000,000 in war contracts. It is the first major measure for economic demobilization to reach the point of passage.

The port is protected by seven heavy coastal forts which should be much simpler to take by land assault than from the sea.

Only patrol activity was reported elsewhere on the Normandy beachhead except in the Tilly-Sur-Seulles area.

The British announced capture of Onchy, three and a half miles southwest of Tilly. At the same time the Germans launched three heavy counter-attacks on the newly-taken British strongpoint of Hottot, two miles south of Tilly. The attacks were reported held, but the situation in the village itself was obscure.

The Caen area even farther to the east was quiet.

CRUCIAL NAVAL BATTLE RAGING IN FAR PACIFIC; REPORTS NOW INDICATE

To the south of Saipan, enemy airfields on Tinian were shelled by warships and bombed by planes.

Preliminary Sunday
What may prove to have been the first preliminary blow of a showdown naval fight was struck Sunday from enemy aircraft carriers. Their planes, flying from the direction of the Philippines by way of Guam and Rota in the Marianas, paid a fruitless cost of 300 aircraft in trying unsuccessfully to sink U. S. carriers and battleships of the invasion fleet. Last night, Nimitz told a press conference that not one combat ship was sunk.

Then the admiral issued an electrifying hint that the enemy blow was paid back with success Monday. He said cryptically it was possible that damage was inflicted on elements of the enemy fleet that day.

"We hope the Jap fleet will stay in that (Philippines) area," he said. "As long as they stay, we have a chance to get at them."

Yanks Take Airfield
Two more Japanese airfields on Biak Island were in American hands today, giving the Allies four airfields on the Schouten islands, off the Dutch New Guinea north coast, from which warplanes soon may attack the Philippines.

Yank infantrymen, aided by tanks and artillery, drove the Japanese from nearby ridges yesterday, then advanced almost unopposed onto Sodorio and Borokoe air strips.

The fields, more than a mile apart, are within four miles of Biak's largest airstrip, Mokmer, captured June 7 and used by the Allies the past week.

Five miles south of Biak, on the tiny Owi island, the Americans have built another airfield.

Philippines in Range
These four fields, close to the equator, are about 880 miles from the Philippines and a like distance from Yap in the Carolines, Celebes east of Borneo, Timor in the Netherlands East Indies and Darwin, Australia.

American construction crews hastened to put into operation both Borokoe, which the Japanese never quite got ready to use, and Sodorio, also in bad shape. The Allies now occupy most of the flat southeastern half of Biak which is suitable for airstrips.

Headquarters announced today that Boston attack planes, operating possibly from Mokmer or Owi, attacked enemy shipping off Manokwari, Dutch New Guinea, 135 miles to the west, Monday, and sank a 1,000-ton freighter, a small coastal vessel and four barges at a cost of one plane.

Liberators from the Admiralty islands dropped 39 tons of bombs on Truk in the Carolines without encountering interception or anti-aircraft fire.

Troubles in China
On its land front Japan was engaged in a correspondingly great effort to plug the leaks in its defensive dikes. Beyond captured Changsha in China its army of more than 50,000 men pushed southward along the Hankow-Canton Railroad. The enemy aimed at making this line a barrier against the rising tide of Allied power, in effect cutting off eastern China from the Allies.

Chinese who lost the fourth battle for vital Changsha fled the

Yank infantrymen, aided by tanks and artillery, drove the Japanese from nearby ridges yesterday, then advanced almost unopposed onto Sodorio and Borokoe air strips.

The fields, more than a mile apart, are within four miles of Biak's largest airstrip, Mokmer, captured June 7 and used by the Allies the past week.

Five miles south of Biak, on the tiny Owi island, the Americans have built another airfield.

Philippines in Range
These four fields, close to the equator, are about 880 miles from the Philippines and a like distance from Yap in the Carolines, Celebes east of Borneo, Timor in the Netherlands East Indies and Darwin, Australia.

American construction crews hastened to put into operation both Borokoe, which the Japanese never quite got ready to use, and Sodorio, also in bad shape. The Allies now occupy most of the flat southeastern half of Biak which is suitable for airstrips.

Headquarters announced today that Boston attack planes, operating possibly from Mokmer or Owi, attacked enemy shipping off Manokwari, Dutch New Guinea, 135 miles to the west, Monday, and sank a 1,000-ton freighter, a small coastal vessel and four barges at a cost of one plane.

Liberators from the Admiralty islands dropped 39 tons of bombs on Truk in the Carolines without encountering interception or anti-aircraft fire.

Troubles in China
On its land front Japan was engaged in a correspondingly great effort to plug the leaks in its defensive dikes. Beyond captured Changsha in China its army of more than 50,000 men pushed southward along the Hankow-Canton Railroad. The enemy aimed at making this line a barrier against the rising tide of Allied power, in effect cutting off eastern China from the Allies.

Chinese who lost the fourth battle for vital Changsha fled the doomed city and Japanese columns swept down the railroad to within 65 miles of Hengyang, about 100 miles southwest of the Hunan capital. Hengyang would go a long way toward making good the Japanese offensive.

The Saipan invasion went well, Nimitz announced "our troops now hold the entire southern portion of the island" including the western shore of Magicienne Bay and Asitro Airdrom, fast being put in operating shape.

Vast supplies of oil, munitions and stores were uncovered on the island, proving Saipan was the main stronghold of the enemy in the Marianas. Japanese civilians were reported coming through American lines for safety.

General MacArthur's men threw the enemy out of two more Biak Island airdromes, thus setting up another threat to Nippon's defenses. Biak is 880 miles from the Philippines.

In Burma Lt. Gen. Stilwell's forces slowly closed in on Mongaung and Myitkyina, enemy bases he needs to reopen the Burma Road. British forces further pushed back Japanese troops once threatening Imphal and Kohima in eastern India.

Tokyo radio admitted Japan had "suffered considerable losses of ships and planes" off Saipan, apparently referring to the Sunday action in which 300 enemy planes were downed.

Nimitz estimated 600 Japanese planes have been destroyed in the entire invasion.

PRODUCTION OF EGGS IN OHIO INCREASES

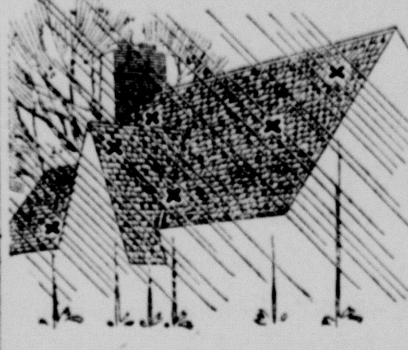

Hens Lay Billion and Half in Five Months

COLUMBUS, June 21.—(P)—Ohio produced nearly a billion and a half eggs during the first five months of 1944, an increase of 8.5 percent above the corresponding period last year, Walter R. Crispin, state supervisor in the War Food Administration's office of distribution, reported today. The estimated total was 1,498,000,000 eggs.

The national increase averaged 7 percent, in contrast to the 2 percent requested of farmers, Crispin said.

The record national egg production, estimated so far at 30,225,000,000, was "too large for immediate civilian and wartime requirements and available commercial storage space," Crispin reported.

"X" Marks the Spot WHERE LEAKS OCCUR

A ROOF decays like a tooth which may have cavities long before one realizes it. When the tooth starts aching it gets immediate attention and you go to a dentist. When a roof starts leaking, it, too, gets attention at once.

But both tooth and roof would have been much better off had they received attention before the aching or the leaking started. And their owners would have saved money.

If your roof is old and shabby and weather-beaten, let us inspect it now before it actually leaks. Our expert roof inspection is free and without obligation. Genuine Logan-Long Slate-surfaced Shingles applied in time very often save more money than they cost by preventing rain from damaging your walls, ceiling, and household furniture. We apply them quickly and expertly right over your old roof. Phone us now for that free roof inspection.

Gey braw are the Scotch words for it at Clydebank when a new carrier goes down the ways. Your American celebrates it with his familiar invitation, Have a "Coke". THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

(Substituting for DeWitt MacKenzie)
Capture of Cherbourg, now dependent on how many Germans want to die first, will bring the Allies to a new phase of the invasion—the establishment of a continental base from which to start for Germany.

That means a concentration which quite possibly would need to occupy all northwestern France including the Brittany Peninsula (Brest) from Lorient (St. Nazaire) to the present beachhead, and Le Havre, which commands the Seine basin.

Otherwise, there seems to be little anchor for the Allied southern flank as it turns for the advance into France. Hitler went through northern France in 1940 without regard for French threats on his southern flank. But, while his army may be the one to disintegrate this time, Allied commanders may not want to chance it.

There could be many reasons for recent bombings of Avranches, Laval, Rennes, Bain, and Nantes, but designs on the Brittany Peninsula would be a good one.

For purposes of surprise, the Allies did the illogical in landing. As someone put it, they selected an area where nobody could establish a successful beachhead, and then did it. But when preparing for battles on a large scale—presumably more than a million men will be on each side when the campaign really gets going—terrain cannot be ignored.

The Loire and the Seine are quite logical flanks for a drive toward Paris.

Of course the location of the present beachhead is the only indication we have that the drive will be toward Paris. The Allies still have plenty for a new landing around Calais and an ultimate campaign across the traditional battlefields of northern France and Belgium. But the enemy is much more concentrated and highly prepared there. His rocket bomb emplacements indicate that, since his use of them when landings in the area failed to materialize indicated he had been saving them for defense, not the present none-too-important offense.

Both areas meet the requirements of General Eisenhower, whose only word of his plans is that he wants to get at the enemy. From this distance it appears a 200-mile front from the Seine to St. Nazaire would let us at just as many of Hitler's legions as would the more heavily fortified north.

It's too early to tell what has happened or is happening in the Far Pacific, but there's something very special in the tone of Admiral Nimitz's voice today.

IF NO REGULAR JOB THEN WORK ON STREET

Mayor E. P. Speasmaker, of London, has issued an order that might well be followed in Washington C. H. and other cities where there are too many loafers.

London police have been told to pick up all able bodied men found loafing on the streets and bring them to headquarters.

"Labor is too scarce to have men idling away their time on street corners," said the Mayor, in announcing that he would place all loafers on the street gang to clean-up the town.

TWO JAP DEER POISONED IN ZOO AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, June 21—(AP)—Two Japanese deer have died from poisoning in Cleveland Zoo at Brookside Park, zoo director Fletcher A. Reynolds reported today.

"The ironic thing about this foolish act is that these deer are not strictly Japanese animals," Reynolds declared. "They may come from north China or anywhere in eastern Asia. 'What,' he asked, 'has a deer to do with the war? These animals were loved by thousands of children.'

PARK PROJECT FATE NOT YET DECIDED HERE

New Sites Considered, Plan Discussed at Rotary Meet Tuesday

The fate of the Rotary Club's proposed park project will be decided within the next two weeks, it was determined Tuesday noon at the club's luncheon meeting at the Country Club.

Reports from investigating committees, discussions and opinions offered by members featured the meeting at which Martin J. Hogan, assistant postmaster at Cincinnati, also spoke in behalf of the War Bond drive.

F. E. Hill and Billie Wilson, members of the special investigating committee, reported on costs of constructing a swimming pool here. They said that because the water in the Perry's Park pool was impure, a finding made by the state department of health, the development of a pool would mean taking away all health hazards and other objectionable features.

They reported, after inspecting pools in Dayton and Xenia, that a modern pool in Dayton, 119 by 53 feet had an initial cost of $21,815 in 1939 plus a monthly operating cost of $700 to $1000. A pool that size, Hill and Wilson explained, would hold 200,000 gallons of water treated and filtered three times every 24 hours. After its first filling water loss through evaporation would be made up from time to time during the year, they said. A pool that size would accommodate 800 persons per day, they added.

It was explained that the $21,815 figure represented the pre-war cost of the pool.

Other sites discussed were Wilson Field, offered by Willard Wilson, and a 50 acre tract near Rock Mills, offered by W. M. Campbell. Wilson said he would donate his field plus equipment, which probably also would include $1,000 worth of equipment installed by the YMCA, for the project if the name Wilson Field were retained. He said he would sell the five acre field as a park for $1000 with no stipulations whatever.

Glenn Woodmansee, spearhead of the solicitation committee, said the approximately $7,500 pledged had been contributed on the understanding that the project would not confine itself solely to a swimming pool. He said he felt the money should be returned and soliciting should "start from scratch" if a pool were to be the only project taken up.

Carroll Halliday, president of the club, said the $5000 fund of the YMCA could be spent legally by the organization here, although he reminded the members the state YMCA board had questioned this viewpoint.

Harry Nagle, vice-president of the Fifth Third Union Trust Company, Cincinnati, accompanied Hogan here for the War Bond talk. Hogan explained the securities to Rotarians and emphasized repeatedly and spiritedly the necessity of buying War Bonds at this critical stage in the war.

NEWSMAN GETS CLOSE-UP OF GUERRILLA WAR AS PRISONER OF GERMANS

"Shoot?" asked a soldier, describing with a sweep of his machine gun the four of us and the civilians.

"Ja," answered the officer. Pribichevich and his three companions protested they were American and British officers.

"Sorry," replied the officer. "I have orders to execute anybody here," and he ordered Fowler to stand up first.

As Fowler, pale but calm, took up his position, Pribichevich continued. The other German officer came across the yard and ordered the men into the cellar. A half hour later they were told only the Yugoslavs would be executed, and were marched off to a cemetery, where the Germans had established headquarters.

"A man led the four of us to the advanced positions and from there we had to carry a gravely wounded German on a stretcher across a field under Partisan fire, back to the headquarters.

"The bullets sang past us. We ducked and crawled and at one point had to drop the stretcher and lie flat on the ground, but a

Amazing results in building STURDY BODIES!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

YOUNG people, especially those of grammar and high school age, are prone to be deficient in stomach digestive juices and red blood.

A growing person who is operating on a 65 to 70% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. In such cases Nature needs extra help. Organic troubles or focal infection, if they exist, must be corrected. Tissue foods must be digested and rich, red blood must be present to build sturdy bodies.

SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach which digest the food so the body can make proper use of it in tissue building and repair and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

These two important results enable the body to make use of the food as Nature intended. Thus you may gain a keen appetite . . . firm flesh . . . body energy . . . mental alertness!

German parachutist . . . prodded us on with his machine gun. . .

"Then I was separated from Talbot, Fowler and Slade. I never heard what had become of them."

A German sergeant ordered Pribichevich to follow him and 15 parachutists with two heavy machine guns across a wheat field.

"The hail of bullets grew thicker and we ran across the clear spaces, taking cover from bush to bush, ditch to ditch and from fence to fence. All the time a German with a sub-machine gun behind me made sure I didn't fall out of line."

When the Germans stopped and set up their machine guns, they ordered Pribichevich to sit beside one of the guns.

"A captured peasant and his eight-year-old boy had been kept at the German machine gun position with me. The two had to carry ammunition to the gunners. The peasant had his right ankle shot through by a Partisan bullet. The terrified boy wrung his hands and implored to Germans:

"I want to go home. I want to go home."

"The Germans ignored him and soon a Partisan machine gun burst shattered both his knees. He was left where he had folded over in a bloody heap and in the incredible ghastliness of that beautiful day the birds continued to sing in the tree tops above the machine gun fire, the Germans, the wounded father and the mutilated boy."

At dusk, Pribichevich's captors began to retreat. Pribichevich was to lead the line and carry a wounded German.

"Now, I said to myself, is the time to . . . escape. I shuffled slowly on my knees and elbows while the shadow of a German shot past me. I raised a bit and another German ran past me."

"The wounded man on top of me groaned, got off with an agonizing effort and stumbled away into the gathering darkness. . .

"I knew the Germans in front of me could not shoot back at me without hitting their own pals, so I only kept an eye on the silhouettes behind who might shoot or stab me. After a few more sham efforts of scuttling ahead I rested again, listened and looked back. There was not a single living German behind me."

"Then I lay flat on my back. The firing decreased and suddenly the night air quivered with the Partisan war cry, 'Ubi davi rastrgray ih na komade' (kill, throttle, tear them to pieces).

"At the top of my voice I shouted in Serbo Croatian: 'Comrades don't aim here, I am Pribichevich.'

"Two youngsters ran up to me and asked whether I was wounded. A Partisan officer arrived, shook hand with me and ordered a comrade to escort me back to the same house where I had been kept prisoner and which now was Partisan headquarters."

BACK THE 5TH WAR LOAN TO THE LIMIT

REMEMBER the Sicilian invasion? Each mechanized division required 18,000 gallons of gasoline for every hour it was on the move.

Remember the invasion of Italy? The cost to reach the mainland from the time we began the attack in North Africa was 1,800 aircraft lost.

Even when we win, we lose vast stores of guns, planes, tanks and other equipment. For that is the price of victory. The Bonds you bought in the first four War Loan Drives are today's exploding bombs and shells! They can never be used again.

But today the battle is bigger than ever! And that is why you must do MORE than you've ever done before in the 5th War Loan.

Buy all you can—and then more! More than you've ever bought before. Invest not only out of current income but out of idle and accumulated funds. This is the biggest job America has ever had to do! Let's show our fighting men we can do it!

Robot Warfare

Another step in decivilization is reached as the Germans introduce their long-threatened robot bomb. This infernal machine is described variously as an automatic pilot plane and as a rocket torpedo. There may be more than one pattern. At any rate, there has arrived in the European war theater an infernal machine adding new horror to a war already more dreadful than any in previous history.

There is no longer any such thing as "civilized warfare" in the familiar sense of war operating by rules and limitations established internationally. The war-makers have no more inhibitions. Men, women and children are destroyed alike, by military procedures which ignore the rights of noncombatants. And so the Hitlerites, who decivilized Germany itself, are now rapidly decivilizing the rest of the world, through the fighting methods they make it necessary for assaulted nations to use for their own survival.

Nazi Psychology

An American correspondent repatriated from a German prison camp reports that Nazi propaganda for domestic consumption is now aimed at building up a fierce, consuming hatred of Americans. He offers examples, among them the following, from a Berlin newspaper, by Nazi labor boss Robert Ley:

"Hate! Hate! Hate! Every German must hate the gangsters, the murderers, the assassins who come from the center of world Jewry and capitalism—the United States of America."

Nazi propaganda has had its effective moments. It sold the German people a hopped-up, sadistic, pseudo-mythological bill of goods. But this example seems hardly worthy of a race (as they prefer to be known) which has produced a good hare of the world's influential philosophers and perceptive analysts of human behavior. It must seem awfully transparent to any German who still practices the forbidden pleasure of thinking for himself.

The fact that we hate what we fear was one of man's earlier psychological discoveries. And surely the thinking German can see in these hysterical exhortations to hatred that fear of another great power has gripped the official Nazi heart.

It is very encouraging to be hated by Nazi Germany. First France and England were the villains, then England alone, then Russia—oh, what an ogre Russia was, and the stronger she became the more dreadful Bolshevism appeared. Now the United States is strong enough to be the target of howls and snivels.

The typical Nazi is a typical bully. That is a safe, proved generality. He first tries to intimidate a weaker opponent with struts, scowls, and frightening screams. When he has assured himself that the return blow won't hurt, he strikes. But if the return blow begins to smart, he suddenly assumes the injured look of outraged innocence and accuses his former victim of

Milkweed Goes To War in Life Preservers

NEW YORK—The lowly milkweed, scourge of ranchers and farmers, is going to war as a substitute for scarce kapoc in life preservers, according to the War Food Administration.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture in conjunction with other government agencies is preparing to collect seed pods for the milkweed floss in 26 states. While New York and New England will contribute some, most of the floss will probably be collected in the southwestern states, the WFA said.

Today's Horoscope

Celebrating a birthday today means that you are mechanically inclined, and this shows in your choice of work and recreations. A pleasant and congenial disposition, kindly, slow to anger and quick to forget and forgive is yours. You enjoy and seek the society of witty people, and are quick and amusing in repartee. You will marry young and be very happy. Do not embark on romantic adventures in the next 12 months. Keep your emotions under control and beware of double-dealing. Also safeguard your health, and attend to business. Born on this date a child will be exceptionally sensitive and sympathetic, thus being liable to imposition and even treachery. Love sorrows are threatened.

villainies to match his own.

Nazi propaganda tells the people that we treat German prisoners as "supermen" and "guests," feeding them good food and ice cream cones. To a hungry Berliner in the soup line, that may seem more like prosperous strength than softness. Nazi propaganda says that we are money-, sex-, skyscraper- and Hollywood-mad. That, too, must be a little hard to swallow in the same edition that carries news from France and Italy.

All this seems to suggest a determination to steel the Germans against the temptation to "wave us into Germany" ahead of the Russians, as some suggest might happen. And that would seem to fit in perfectly with an Allied strategy that calls for unconditional surrender.

Credit to Eisenhower

"We are the only two peoples in the world who could have done it," says England's General Montgomery of the Anglo-American planning and accomplishment of the invasion.

The general is probably right. Other anti-Axis nations quarrel with each other, and within their own boundaries. British and American policies and diplomacy don't always jell. But the two armies have fought as one—from Tunisia to Normandy. And General Montgomery gives credit where credit is obviously due—to General Eisenhower.

Through the long pre-invasion months of planning, Britons and Americans were "we" to General Ike. Any American officer who couldn't work with his British colleagues was sent packing. By such methods General Eisenhower showed that he was a great enough coach to put together the greatest team in the world.

Infants' Skin Irritations

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE BABY'S skin should be thoroughly cleansed, dried and powdered before putting on the clean diaper. And even then napkin area rashes or diaper rashes may occur. Many mothers assume that these are all of the same kind and primarily due to the reaction of the baby's delicate skin to filth, but while this is the primary factor in most instances, there are several other kinds of diaper rash and each requires its own form of treatment.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The simple form is a mild inflammatory reaction of the skin to either ammoniacal or acid discharge. It is an irritation not an infection. There is no break in the skin and the redness and itching are the result of an irritating process showing in the response of the blood vessels (redness) and nerve endings (itching) of the skin. Nearly every baby reared in a state of civilization experiences some degree, mild to severe, of this condition.

The treatment and prevention of this relatively simple form of dermatitis is common sense selection, care and washing of the diapers. There is no rule about how often a diaper should be changed and depending on changing conditions, the state of irritation of the young hopeful's behind the ritual of changing and cleansing should be observed as often as indicated. The soiled napkins should be washed in soap and water (not washing soda) and then soaked in a mild antiseptic solution (saturated boracic acid) and rinsed and dried thoroughly.

Treatment for Impetigo

But complications may occur to this simple irritative dermatitis. The skin may become macerated and broken and germs get in causing impetigo, as the pustular eruption of the skin are called in technical language. This may take the form of discrete abscesses or ulcers, or may be a pretty diffuse infiltration of the skin with pustular secretion and debris formation. The treatment here is by the application of some germicidal agent such as 2 per cent silver nitrate solution or ammoniated mercury ointment, or, nowadays I suppose, the most popular is some form of sulfa drug ointment. If silver nitrate is used the application should be followed by a soothing ointment such as zinc oxide.

Yeast and ringworm infections are others that may superimpose themselves on the simple napkin dermatitis. Here the use of Whitfield's ointment is naturally indicated. In fact in any stubborn rash in this area which does not respond to the measures of cleanliness, soothing lotions and pusgerm antiseptics, it is proper to suspect ringworm as the causative factor.

Rash On Baby's Heels

A perfectly natural complication of any of these conditions is that the rash may appear on the baby's heels. Natural because the baby's kickings whilst lying on its back during changing time bring the heels into contact with the infected surface.

Still another form which resists stubbornly all the ordinary methods of treatment outlined above is scabies, or itch. It is due to the entrance of the itch mite into the skin. In infants, in fact, this part of the skin is the site of election for the infestation of the itch mite; in adults, of course, it is the web between the fingers. Once the diagnosis is established the treatment should be by balsam of Peru, because very young children do not react well to sulphur, which is the standard drug for the treatment of scabies in adults. However it may have to be used if results are not obtained by other methods.

"CALAMITY TOWN" by ELLERY QUEEN

CHAPTER THIRTY

On Saturday night, Nora invited Roberta Roberts and Judge Eli Martin to dinner to "talk things over" with the family. After dinner, they all went into the living room. Ludie had tightly flapped the blinds and lit a fire. They sat before it with the uncomfortable stiffness of people who know they should say something, but cannot think of what. There was no solace anywhere, not even in the friendly flames. It was impossible to relax—Nora was too much there.

"Mr. Smith, you haven't said much tonight," remarked Roberta Roberts at last.

Nora looked at Ellery beseechingly; but he avoided her eyes. "There hasn't been too much to say. However, as I see the problem, it's not intellectual, or emotional, but legal. Faith isn't going to acquit Jim, although it may bolster his spirits. Only facts can get him off."

"And there aren't any!" interjected Nora.

"Nora dearest," moaned Hermie. "Please! You heard what Dr. Wright loughly said about getting upset."

"I know, Mother, I know," Nora glanced eagerly at Judge Martin, whose long fingers were bridged before his nose as he glowered at the fire. "How does it look, Uncle Eli?"

"I wouldn't want to deceive you, Nora," The old jurist shook his head. "It looks bad."

"You mean Jim hasn't a chance?" she asked.

"There's always a chance, Nora," said Roberta Roberts.

"Yes," sighed the Judge. "You can never tell about a jury."

"If there was only something we could do," said Hermie helplessly.

John F. burrowed more deeply into his smoking jacket.

"Oh, you people!" cried Lola Wright. "Meaning the blues! I'm sick of this sitting around, wringing our hands!"

"So am I," said Pat between her teeth.

"Patricia darling," cautioned Hermie, "I'm sure you'd better stay out of this discussion."

"Of course, Mommy," said Lola with a grimace. "Your baby! You'll never see Pat as anything but a long-legged kid."

Pat shrugged. Mr. Ellery Queen regarded her with suspicion. For Miss Patricia Wright had been acting peculiarly since Thursday. Too quiet. Over-thoughtful for a healthy extrovert. As if she were brewing something. . . . He started to say something to her, but lit a cigaret instead.

"Ellery, what do you think?" pleaded Nora.

"Let's face it," replied Ellery grimly. "Jim's in a hopeless position. You'd better prepare yourself. I've gone over the whole case. I've re-examined each incident a dozen times. And I haven't found a loophole."

Nora twisted violently in her chair and dropped her face on her arm.

Silence filled the room to bursting until Ellery said, "Miss Roberts, I want to know something."

"Yes, Mr. Smith."

"Why have you taken such an extraordinary interest in this case—even to the point of sacrificing your job?"

"I happen to believe James Haight is innocent."

"In the face of all the evidence against him?"

Roberta got to her feet. "I'm not sure I like that," she said clearly. "What are you trying to infer?"

The others were frowning. "It seems too beautiful," declared Mr. Queen. "Too, too, far-fetched for a hard-boiled newspaper woman to sacrifice her job for a stranger who—all the facts indicate—is guilty as Cain. There's an excuse for Nora—she's in love with him, her husband. There's an excuse for the Wrights—they want their son-in-law cleared for the sake of their daughter and grandchild. But what's yours?"

"Miss Roberts," pressed Ellery in a hard voice, "what are you concealing?"

"I refuse to submit to this third degree."

"Sorry! But it's plain you do know something. What you know has forced you to come to Jim's defense. What is it?"

The newspaper woman gathered her gloves and silver-fox coat and bag. "There are times, Mr. Smith," she said, "when I dislike you very much. . . . No, please, Mrs. Wright, Don't bother." She went out with a quick step.

Mr. Queen stared at the space she had just vacated. "I thought," he said apologetically, "I might be able to startle it out of her."

"I think," said Judge Martin reflectively, "I'll have a heart-to-heart talk with her later."

Ellery shrugged. "Lola, you've concealed something, too."

Lola stared. Then she laughed. "You are in a Scotland Yard mood tonight, aren't you?"

"Don't you think the time has come," purred Mr. Queen, "to tell Judge Martin about your visit to the back door of Nora's house just before midnight New Year's Eve?"

"Lola!" gasped Hermie. "You were there?"

"Oh, it's nothing at all, Mother," responded Lola impatiently. "It hasn't a thing to do with the case. Of course, Judge, I'll tell you. But now how about the eminent Mr. Smith getting to work?"

"At what?" asked the so-called Mr. Smith.

"My dear, you know a lot more than you've let on!"

"Lola," protested Nora, in despair. "This wrangling—"

"Just a minute," interposed Judge Martin. "Smith, if you know anything at all, I want to put you on the stand!"

"If I thought going on the stand would help, Judge," asserted Ellery, "I'd do it. But it won't. On the contrary, it would hurt—a lot. It would just about cement your client's conviction."

John F. spoke for the first time. "You mean you know Jim is guilty, young man?"

"I didn't say that," demurred Ellery. "But my testimony would make things look so black against him—it would establish clearly that no one but Jim could have poisoned that cocktail—"

Just then, Chief Dakin arrived. "Sorry to bust in this way, folks," he said gruffly, "but this was one subpoena I had to serve myself, Mr. Smith."

"Subpoena? Me?" asked Ellery. "Yes, sir, Mr. Smith, you're summoned to appear in court Monday morning to testify for the People in the case of People Against James Haight."

"I got one, too," murmured Lola to Ellery Queen in the courtroom Monday morning.

"Got one what?"

"A summons to testify today for the People."

"Bradford's got something up his sleeve," murmured Defense Counsel Martin. "And what's J.C. doing in court?"

"Who?" Ellery looked about.

"J. C. Pettigrew, the real-estate man. There's Bradford whispering to him."

"Here's Newbold," said Judge Martin, hastily standing up. "Remember, Lola, just answer Carter's questions. Don't volunteer information," he whispered grimly as the bailiff shouted to the courtroom to rise.

J. C. Pettigrew sat down in the witness chair, swabbing his face with a blue polka-dot handkerchief.

He testifies that he's been a friend of the Wrights for many years—his daughter Carmel is Patricia Wright's best friend.

(Pat compresses her lips. Her "best friend" has not telephoned since January first.)

"Q—I hand you this canceled check, Mr. Pettigrew. Do you recognize it?"

A—Yep.

Q—Read what it says.

A—The date December 31, 1940. Then it says: Pay to the order of cash, one hundred dollars. Signed J. C. Pettigrew.

Q—Did you make out this check?"

A—I did.

Q—To whom did you give this check, Mr. Pettigrew?"

A—To Lola Wright.

Q—Tell us the circumstances of your giving Miss Lola Wright this check for a hundred dollars, please.

A—I was just cleaning up at my office in High Village when Lola came in. Said she was in a bad spot, and she'd known me all her life, and could I let her have a hundred dollars. I saw she was worried—

Q—Just tell us what she said and you said.

A—Well, that's all, I guess. I gave it to her. Oh, yes. She asked for cash. I said I didn't have any cash to spare, and it was past banking hours, so I'd give her a check. Then I made out a check, she said thanks, and that's all.

Q—Did Miss Wright tell you what she wanted the money for?"

A—No, sir, and I didn't ask her. The check was placed in evidence. Judge Martin had been about to demand the deletion of all J.C.'s remarks until he turned the check over and saw what was written on the other side. Then he waved his hand magnanimously and declined to cross-examine.

Lola Wright was nervous as she took the oath, but her gaze was defiant. Prosecutor Bradford showed her the check in evidence.

"Miss Wright, what did you do with this check when you received it from J. C. Pettigrew?"

"I don't remember."

Foolish girl, thought Ellery: Don't make things worse by being difficult.

Bradford held the check up before her. "Miss Wright, perhaps this will refresh your memory. Read the endorsement on the back, please."

Lola swallowed. Then she said in a low voice: "James Haight."

At the defense table the accused seized that instant to smile. It was the warmest smile imaginable. Then he sank into apathy again.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

(Third of a series on Jack Stinnett's Recent Tour of the United States)

WASHINGTON — After spending a month traveling around the country, most of it through scenes and among people I had known and worked with before, I think that among the most important aspects of changing America are the new thought patterns being brought back by the men and women who have fought and bled on the global fronts of this war.

For the most part, they are a quiet, un-talking people. They are better versed on current events than most civilians and there's hardly a one now who can't name his congressman and tell you why he will or will not vote for him.

Almost unanimously they think that the end of the war (on both fronts) is a long time off and I've never talked to one yet who considers any of our enemies a "soft touch," regardless of whether the question is numerical strength, fighting ability, or efficiency of equipment.

They are almost unanimously bitter against labor strikes in war plants for any reason; but hold no brief for a recalcitrant management that is selfishly seeking excessive profits. They are almost supremely confident that when all the boys get back the selfish in all fields of war endeavor will be punished by one method or another, although almost none talks in terms of physical violence.

They're very much concerned about their respective places in a postwar domestic economy but I've never run across one who wants more than a little place in the sun comparable to the one he or his neighbors held with security before Pearl Harbor.

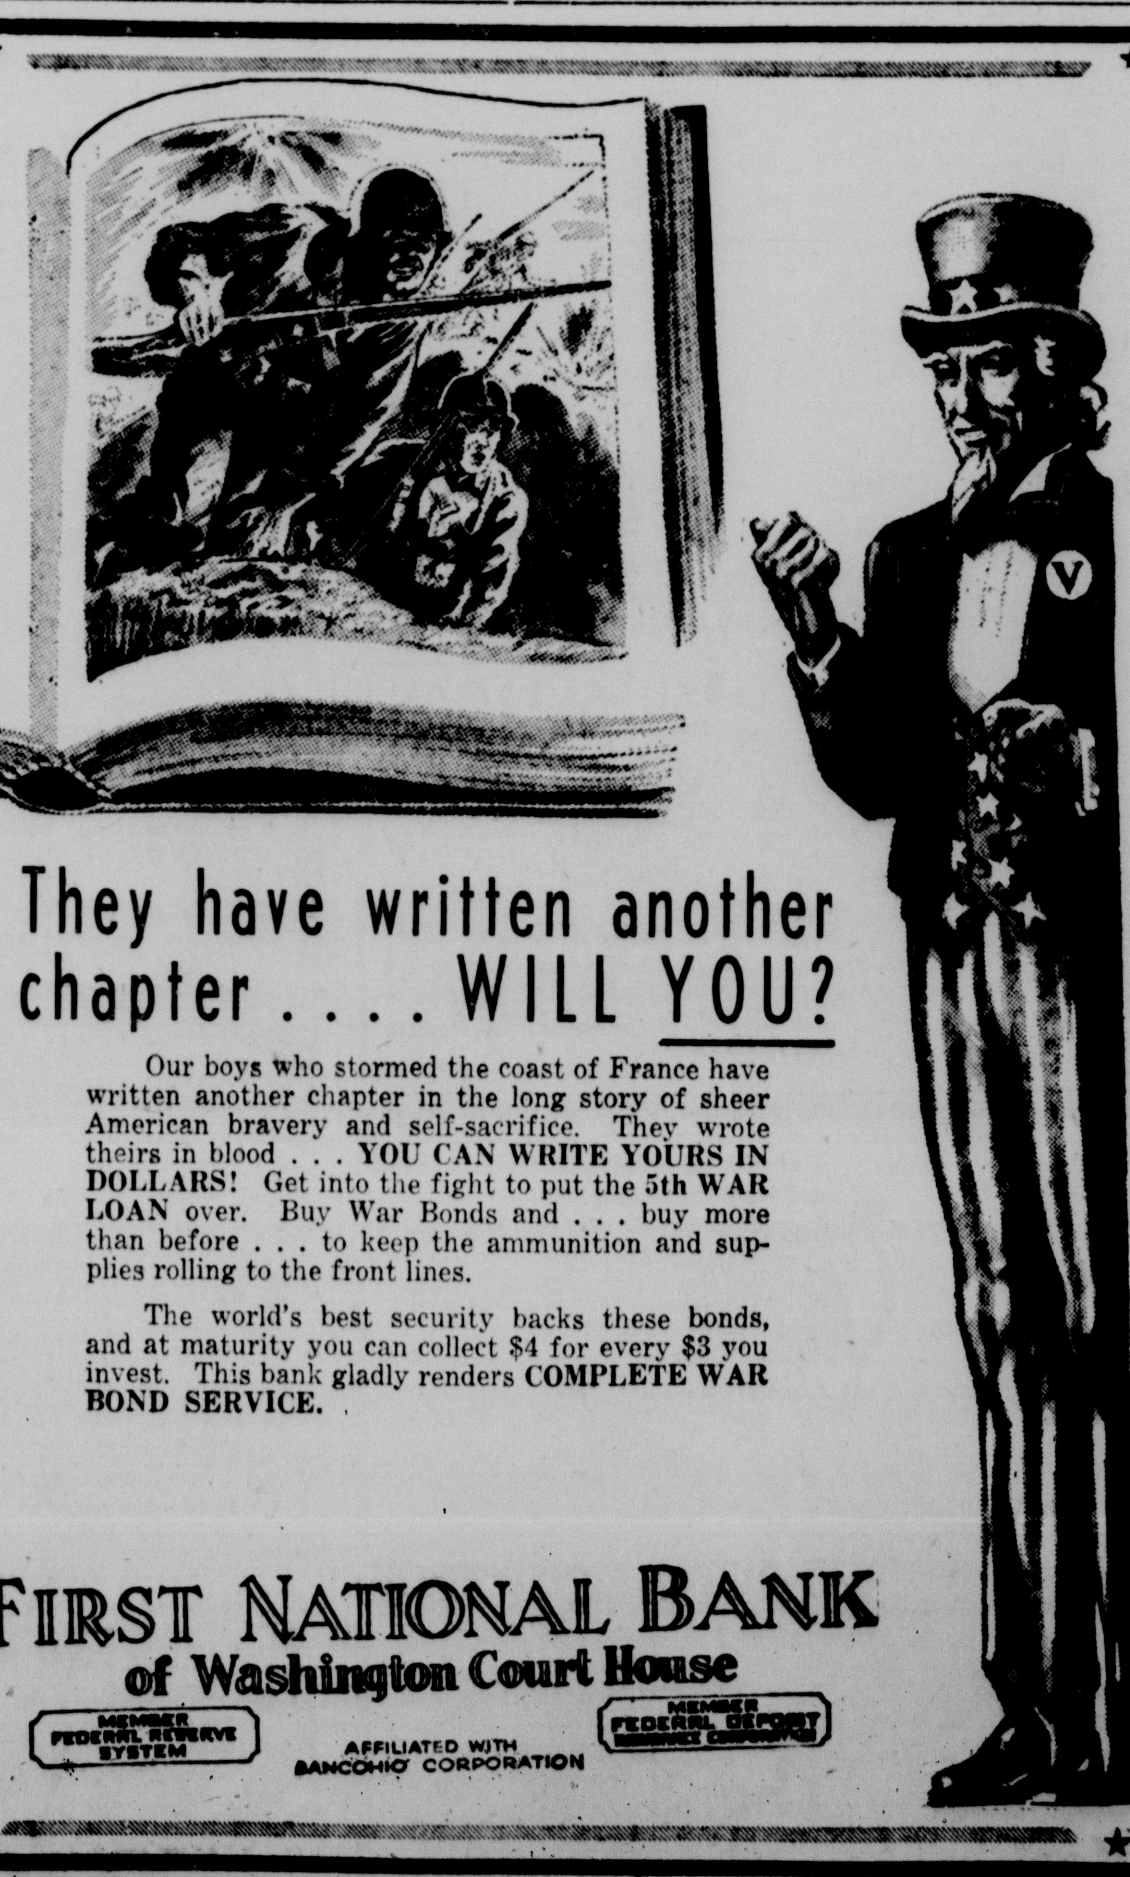

They consider postwar world collaboration to maintain peace such an inevitability that it isn't even a topic for debate.

These are new patterns of thought. They are the results of broader horizons and greater depths of pain and sacrifice applied to everyday living. They aren't exceptions. They are the rule. . . .

These men are such fellows as a lieutenant commander who has had three destroyers shot from under him, including one as long ago as the Battle of the Coral Sea; as a commander who skips a submarine; as an ordnance captain who is shaking apart with the after effects of malaria; as an Army nurse who has ministered to hundreds of suffering youngsters flown out of the blood-spattered islands of the South Pacific; as a captain who carried a load of shrapnel and seven bullets out of Italy; as a seabee from the Solomon Islands; and dozens of the platoon sergeants and sergeants and seamen.

Many never have been more than ten miles from their front door before they were inducted. Most of them just want to get back there, but not to pick up mentally and socially just where they left off. They've got ideas now and the problem for the United States and its economists and politicians will be to catch up with them.

They have written another chapter . . . WILL YOU?

Our boys who stormed the coast of France have written another chapter in the long story of sheer American bravery and self-sacrifice. They wrote theirs in blood . . . YOU CAN WRITE YOURS IN DOLLARS! Get into the fight to put the 5th WAR LOAN over. Buy War Bonds and . . . buy more than before . . . to keep the ammunition and supplies rolling to the front lines.

The world's best security backs these bonds, and at maturity you can collect $4 for every $3 you invest. This bank gladly renders COMPLETE WAR BOND SERVICE.

Mrs. Gene Travis Feted by Friends At Housewarming

Mrs. Gene Travis was gaily feted at a surprise housewarming by a number of friends who assembled at her new apartment, 334 1-2 East Market Street, bringing a potluck supper and many appropriate gifts for this popular young woman.

Following the most enjoyable and delightful supper hour when the guests were seated at small tables, each centered with pink rosebud candles, Mrs. Travis received a large tray covered with many beautifully wrapped packages, and as she opened each she made response in her own gifted manner.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing bridge and hearts. When the scores were tallied late in the evening Mrs. Loren Noble was awarded first prize in the bridge game, and second to Mrs. Travis. Miss Betty Hard won first prize in the hearts game with second going to Mrs. Emory Lynch.

Those present were Mrs. Paul Schorr, Mrs. Paul Metzger, Miss Susie Garringer, Mrs. Dwight Beatty, Miss Norma Jean West, Mrs. Roy West, Mrs. Wallace Noon, Mrs. Emory Lynch, Miss Geraldine Smith, Miss Betty Hard, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Horatio Willson and Miss Kay Wilson.

The party was planned under the direction of Miss Kay Wilson.

World Service Guild Met at Powell Home

Mrs. Marguerite Powell charmingly entertained members of the World Service Guild of the First Presbyterian Church at her beautifully appointed home on Columbus Avenue, Tuesday evening, with an average attendance of members being had at this time.

The president, Mrs. James Yates, had charge of the regular meeting, during which business of interest to the members was discussed, and the treasurer, Mrs. Darrell Williams, gave a very satisfactory report.

Mrs. William Rodgers had charge of the devotional hour, followed by the Year Book of Prayer which was ably given by Mrs. Walter Rettig.

Mrs. Maryon Mark then took as her subjects for the magazine review "Chosen" for the foreign topic and home, "Spanish Speaking America." This was discussed at great length by the members, and this closed the meeting.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Rodgers, then invited their guests to the spacious dining room where a prettily-appointed table was arranged for the serving of a tempting dessert course. The home was decorated with a number of bouquets of summer flowers, and the social hour was enjoyed by candlelight at the table. The white tapers burned softly in gorgeous silver candelabras.

Informal visiting rounded out the many pleasures graciously extended by the hospitable hostess and her assistant.

POET'S CORNER

SALUTE

I saw the flag go by today,
As with uncovered head,
I watched the Legion marching down
To decorate the dead;
I thrilled with pride as I stood there,
Upon the quiet street;
And in my eyes that starry flag
Was beautiful and sweet.

But there were men with covered heads
Who stood as unconcerned
As if a bit of rag was all
Their wondering eyes discerned;
I saw in every rippling fold,
The glory of a land
Where every creed and race are bound
In one, united band.

I saw in every crimson stripe
That tossed upon the breeze,
The blood of those who fought and fell
Upon the land and seas;
And as the Legion passed me by
To decorate the dead,
I took my hat off to the flag
That rippled overhead.

Frank Grubbs

LIFTED

Last night I looked into Heaven . . .
The gates had been left ajar;
And I had a wonderful vision
Of that beautiful land afar;
I saw the white-robed angels . . .
I saw the Great White Throne
And the dear, remembered faces
Of people I had known.

As I looked through the shining portals,
In the midst of the Angel band,
I saw my angel mother
And my father hand in hand;
I saw my sister and brothers
And friends who had gone before;
O, it was a beautiful vision
I had through the open door.

I have turned again to my labor . . .
But the vision of the night
Has banished the clouds around me,
And made earth's pathway bright;

I know not why it was given
To me to see past the Veil,
Unless God wanted to show me
The joy at the end of the Trail.

—FRANK GRUBBS.

THIRD OF GOAL IS REACHED IN WAR LOAN DRIVE

Complacency Here Explained By Lions Club Speaker Tuesday Night

Wednesday morning saw Fayette County just a hairline over the one-third mark in its Fifth War Loan campaign. Total sales reported were $330,827.64—representing 574 purchases.

That brings the yet-to-go total down to a formidable $619,172.36, an amount of War Bonds which must be purchased by July 8.

The E bond purchasing—for which $376,000 is set aside—is summed at $57,409.64. In bare arithmetic that means $318,590.36 more of the E bond quota remains to be pulled out of the pockets of Fayette Countians. So far only 79 individuals have purchased E bonds.

A break-down of the total shows all individual purchases are $200, or $85.14. Commercial buying is, so far, $129,942.50—a figure piled up with 11 purchases.

Complacency Explained

Martin J. Hogan, assistant postmaster at Cincinnati, who spoke at the Lions Club Tuesday night, said "we prefer to take it easy and think of comfort while our brothers and sons are fighting to gain a beachhead in some foreign country. Our boys are fighting in all areas—fighting and dying for our privileges, not theirs."

If New York and San Francisco had been bombed there would be no complacency, he said. Hogan stated he believed people in the United States were not intentionally indifferent.

"This country is right at the cross roads of the war," he said, adding it is a question of unity or dissension on the home front. He pointed out that every philosophy and creed, all political ideals are in the United States. Yet the nation becomes united when its democracy is threatened—"It is united on the Fifth War Loan Drive," he said.

"The drive must be put over. There will be other drives which must be completed. Their success depends on unity here," he said.

Free Bond Movie

Any bonds purchased on Wednesday or Thursday will admit the purchaser free of charge to "For Me and My Gal" at the Fayette Theater. Admission will be given on presenting a receipt of the bond purchase at the box office. Any denomination bond will be accepted.

The movie features Judy Garland and Gene Kelly. Bond certificates will be valid admission at both showings on Thursday night.

FORMER RESIDENT SUMMONED TUESDAY

Mrs. M. S. Pinkerton To Be Buried Here

Mrs. Margaret S. Pinkerton, 77, of 417 North Broad Street, Middletown, former resident of Fayette County, died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Petry, 2101 Sherman Avenue, Middletown, her death ending a long illness.

A Gold Star mother, she organized the Middletown chapter of the War Mothers in 1921 and was instrumental in organizing other chapters throughout the state and served at one time as State President.

Her son, Raymond A. Pinkerton, was killed in France in 1917.

In addition to her daughter, two sons, a brother and sister survive her.

The War Mothers will conduct special services at the McCoy-Coffler Funeral Home in Middletown at 7:30 Thursday.

Regular services will be held Friday at 10 A.M. and burial will be made in the Washington C. H. cemetery at 3 P.M. Friday.

AIR NAVIGATION PIONEER DIES AS PLANE CRASHES

DALLAS, Tex., June 21—(AP)—Crash of a twin-engine cargo plane at Love Field here yesterday killed Col. Thomas L. Thurlow, 36, one of the army's leaders in the field of navigation.

Col. Thurlow, who won national recognition as navigator on board the plane in which Howard Hughes flew to a record-breaking round-the-world flight in 1930, was chief of the instrument and navigation branch of the material command at Wright Field, O.

Give It A CHANCE To Help Feel BETTER

You can help your bowels to act properly by making it a habit to move them at regular times every day. If an occasional attack of bowel sluggishness causes headache or temporary minor intestinal distress, give TONJON Nos. 1 or 2 a chance to remove the waste matter accumulated in the bowels. Then see for yourself how much better you will feel.

JAMES B. PATTON IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Former Resident of This City Is Summoned

James B. Patton, 58, formerly of Washington C. H. and brother of Mrs. Daisy Haynes of this city, and Mrs. Nell Grant of Columbus, died suddenly after a short illness in Huntington, W. Va., Tuesday.

Mr. Patton was a salesman for the W. M. Ritter Lumber Co., of 115 E. Rich St., Columbus, and resided at 2215 Bryden Road, Columbus.

Funeral plans are being completed by the Schoedinger Funeral Home.

Mr. Patton had been employed by the Ritter Lumber Co. since 1904.

He was a member of the Broad Street Presbyterian Church, where he was a former trustee. The Creighton Club, the Sons of the American Revolution, and was formerly a member of the Scioto Country Club.

He was born in Washington C. H. and spent his early life here.

In addition to his two sisters, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marguerite Courtright Patton, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution; two sons, Lieut. James C. Patton, with the American forces in Italy and Capt. Robert M. Patton, with the U. S. Army at Miami, Florida.

MRS. BLANCHE WISEHART SUCCUMBS IN FRANKFORT

Funeral services for Mrs. Blanche Wisehart, who died at her home in Frankfort Tuesday night at 9:45 o'clock, will be held in the Methodist Church there at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Mrs. Wisehart, who was born in the Lyndon community and has many relatives and friends in the southern part of Fayette County and in the vicinity of Greenfield as well as in Frankfort, had been in poor health for several years. Her condition had been critical since an attack of influenza about a month ago.

Her late husband had a clothing store in Frankfort for years.

She is survived by two daughters, Miss Marjorie at home and Mrs. Marion Dixon of Peru, Ind., three granddaughters and many nieces and nephews.

HALLIDAY AGAIN ON STATE NWF TRUSTEE BOARD

Serves Second Term on Board; Elected in Columbus Tuesday

Carroll Halliday Tuesday afternoon was re-elected to the board of trustees of the National War Fund at the first annual report meeting of the organization in Columbus.

Halliday was a charter member of the National War Fund organization last year. Before that, he had served as chairman of two USO drives here in 1942 and 1941. He was not at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the organization.

Carroll Halliday

although he attended the Monday session.

All officers of the board who served during the 1943 campaign were unanimously re-elected to carry on during the 1944 NWF campaign for the Ohio Division.

Reviewing campaign highlights, Campaign Chairman Oscar E. Barkey reported that every one of the 88 counties in Ohio had held a National War Fund campaign during 1943 and had raised approximately $7,307,000.

The National War Fund represents 19 member agencies banded together to save expenses and manpower in conducting their campaigns. They include USO, War Prisoners' Aid, United Seamen's Service and Allied Relief agencies.

Nearly $26,000 was raised here last fall during the Fayette County National War Fund drive. The quota set was $22,000. As far as is known now, no date has been set for the next drive.

Demonstration now going on

As a franchised outlet appointed by Zenith, we join this great Crusade to lower the cost of hearing. We are happy to bring you this sensational new hearing aid which places a precision instrument of highest quality within reach of all. You are invited to attend a demonstration—let your ears be the judge. You will not be pressed to buy. The demand is so great that Zenith's problem is not sales, but supply. We sell only to those who can be helped. No high pressure salesman will call on you.

There are cases in which deficient hearing is caused by a progressive disease. Therefore, we recommend that you consult your otologist or ear doctor to make sure that your hearing deficiency is the type that can be benefited by the use of a hearing aid.

CLEAN-UP WORK WELL UNDER WAY ALL OVER CITY

Alleys To Be Cleaned First Then Hauling Done for Citizens

Work of cleaning the alleys throughout the city, by street crews, which was started Monday, is progressing rapidly, but is a much larger task than anticipated, due to the widespread violation of the city ordinance which makes it an offense to dump rubbish in alleys and other public thoroughfares.

In this connection, the first offenders noted since the order was issued that there must be no further dumping of rubbish in alleys, have been warned by the police that unless they have the rubbish cleaned up within 24 hours, charges will be filed, and they will be brought into municipal court for fine.

It was made clear by City Manager W. L. Stambaugh, that the notification of those who violate the ordinance will not be continued, but charges will be filed

JOHN K. HONLINE DIES IN HIGHLAND

Father of Mrs. Theodore Sanderson Is Claimed

John K. Honline, 76, father of Mrs. Theodore Sanderson of Washington C. H., died at his home near Highland in Highland County Tuesday at 11:45 P.M. Honline had been ill five weeks.

The son of Andrew and Ellen Allen Honline, he was born in New Petersburg in Highland County in 1867. He was a member of the New Vienna Church of Christ.
